FARMER TO FARMER CONFERENCE OVERVIEW

What this is:

Knowledge exchange and relationship building between farmers and with service providers, to the benefit of Maine farms. MOFGA's Farmer to Farmer Conference is known for its intimacy, in-depth treatment of topics and profound discussions. Conference content is primarily focused on topics relating to production, relational skills and business management.

Who is this for:

Established farmers. We offer some foundational topics for early farms and offer scholarships that support access for farm workers and apprentices, but tailor our content toward farms that are established in business, growing and maturing their farms - recognizing each participant as having expertise to share.

How we achieve this:

Our unique workshop session format presents talks by both agricultural service professionals and farmers, and then opens up to a farmer discussion that capitalizes on the knowledge of all in attendance.

Why:

The conference offerings are based on the idea that farmers learn best from their peers and other practitioners. F2F is an opportunity to gather at the end of each season and provides a space for connection to strengthen the farmer network, reflect on the year prior and plan ahead.
